

What Your Doctor May Not Tell You About Parasites

Are you having difficulty with unexplained, mysterious symptoms? Do you have chronic digestive problems like heartburn, bad breath, bloating and IBS? Are you tired and having a hard time sleeping for no apparent reason? Do you have aches and pains, or problems with your skin, hair and nails? Are you struggling in any area of your sex life and are you finding it hard to shake off infections? If so, the cause may be parasites in your body. Parasites are not confined to the developing world; they are rampant in western society. Contaminated food and water supplies, lack of hygiene, global travel, our love of pets and medical ignorance has caused an explosion of parasite-related health challenges. Despite voluminous research pointing to parasites as a major cause of chronic symptoms, the medical community has not yet grasped and acknowledged the connection between parasites, low vitality and illness. In this controversial yet authoritative book, David Hompes draws on his experience of helping more than 2,000 people around the world rejuvenate their health to teach you what parasites are, how you acquire them, why they cause problems and how they get into your body. This indispensable book also helps you find out whether you have parasites and, most importantly, how you can safely and effectively remove them and repair any damage to your body they may have caused, leaving your health truly rejuvenated.
